

Jeremy Miller, Director, Business Development

Jeremy Miller joined the Dejero team in 2015 as a Field Sales Engineer, and has progressed to the role of Global Director, Technical Account Managers, managing the TAM team and taking part in the technical demonstrations of Dejero products for customers and prospects.

Prior to joining Dejero, Miller held various field application engineering and training roles in technology while supporting the US Department of Defense and US State Department.